

Stromboli

Italy

Height

Eruption Cycle

Last Erupted Erupting continuously for hundreds of thousands of years

Fact: This volcano has been erupting for at least 2000 years.

Mount Fuji

Japan

Height

Eruption Cycle

Last Erupted

Fact: This volcano is the highest volcano and highest peak in Japan and considered one of the 3 holy mountains.

Ojos del Salado

Argentina-Chile Border

Height

Eruption Cycle

Last Erupted

Fact: Nevados Ojos del Salado is the world's highest active volcano.

Mauna Loa

Hawaii

Height

Eruption Cycle

Last Erupted

Fact: Mauna Loa is one of the five volcanoes that form the Island of Hawaii in the U.S state of Hawaii in the Pacific Ocean.

Mount Vesuvius

Italy

Height

Eruption Cycle

Last Erupted

Fact: The most famous eruption happened in 79 AD. Mount Vesuvius erupted continuously for over a day, completely burying the nearby city of Pompeii.

Mount Pinatubo

Philippines

Height

Eruption Cycle

Last Erupted

Fact: Mount Pinatubo's eruption on 15th June 1991 was one of the largest volcanic eruptions of the 20th Century.

Krakatoa

Indonesia

Height

Eruption Cycle

Last Erupted

Fact: The famous eruption of 1883 generated the loudest sound ever reported in history. It was heard as far away as Perth, Australia (around 1,930 miles away).

Mount St. Helens

United States

Height

Eruption Cycle

Last Erupted

Fact: The deadliest volcanic eruption caused by this volcano was on May 18, 1980, destroying 250 homes and 200 miles of highway.

Mount Tambora

Indonesia

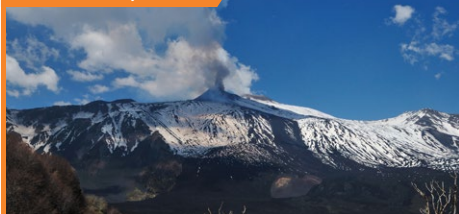

Height

Eruption Cycle

Last Erupted

Fact: On 10 April 1815, Tambora produced the largest eruption known on the planet during the past 10,000 years.

twinkl.com

Mount Etna

Italy

Height

Eruption Cycle

Last Erupted

Fact: Mount Etna is Europe's highest and most active volcano.

twinkl.com

Taal Volcano

Philippines

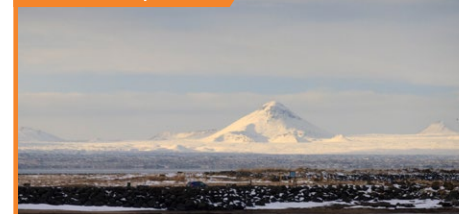

Height

Eruption Cycle

Last Erupted

Fact: It is the most active volcano in the Philippines with 33 historical eruptions.

twinkl.com

Katla

Iceland

Height

Eruption Cycle

Last Erupted

Fact: One of Iceland's most dangerous volcanoes. Eruptions cause flooding as it is located under an icecap.

twinkl.com

Kilauea

Hawaii

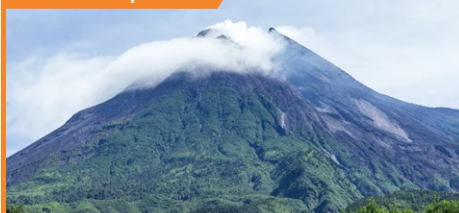

Height

Eruption Cycle

Last Erupted

Fact: The most famous eruption of Kilauea was in 1959. A lava fountain 1900 feet high spread around the air.

twinkl.com

Mount Merapi

Indonesia

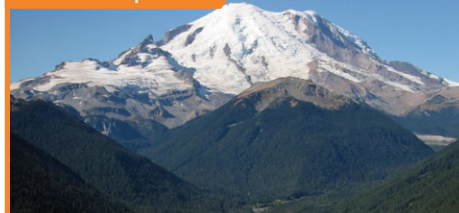

Height

Eruption Cycle

Last Erupted

Fact: Merapi, which means "Mountain of fire", is the nations second most active volcano.

twinkl.com

Mount Rainier

United States

Height

Eruption Cycle

Last Erupted

Fact: Mount Rainier is Washington's highest mountain. It is known as a giant stratovolcano and though it looks quiet it is still considered an active volcano.

twinkl.com

Santa María

Guatemala

Height

Eruption Cycle

Last Erupted

Fact: The deadliest volcanic eruption caused by this volcano was on May 18, 1980, destroying 250 homes and 200 miles of highway.

twinkl.com